BRITISH CONSULAR NOTIFICATION.

IN HER BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S CONSULAR COURT, SHANGHAI, June 7th, 1865.

The undersigned hereby makes known that he has found it necessary to exclude Mr. D. Cooper, Solicitor, from practising in this Court.

The grounds of this Order will be found in the subjoined correspondence, which is complete in ten letters.

HARRY S. PARKES,
Consul.

No. 1. SHANGHAI, October 18th, 1864.

TONG FAT v. THE BRITISH & FOREIGN M. I. Co. (limited).

DEAR SIR,—In reference to the conversation I had with you yesterday upon the subject of your communication of the 22nd August last, forwarded in my absence, I shall feel obliged by your informing me whether the proceedings in the above case will be forwarded to the Supreme Court, in accordance with the notice of appeal. Considering that the utter ruin of my client depends upon whether the judgment is ultimately reversed or not, and that really I cannot discern from the facts of the case anything beyond surmise to support the plea of fraud against the man—admitting all the defendants' testimony to be true—in opposition to an unshaken body of testimony in his favor, I hope no impediment will be thought sufficient to prevent the case being submitted to the Court of appeal at Hongkong. Messrs. Cuna & Co., British subjects, own a portion of the opium lost in the wreck, and Tong-fat (for the bulk of the opium) was only interested as an Insurance Agent, and this case, as stated by Mr. Cuna in evidence, would decide his.

I think the copy of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Hal Chun v. Dadabhoy, would absolve you from any charge of mistake in forwarding the appeal as desired, and I shall be glad to receive your final reply upon the subject.

I have the honor to remain,
Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) D. COOPER.

To Sir H. S. Parkes, K.C.B.,
H. B. M.'s Consul, Shanghai.

No. 2. BRITISH CONSULATE,
SHANGHAI, October 25th, 1864.

SIR,—I have to acknowledge your letter of the 18th inst., enquiring whether the proceedings in the case of Tong-fat v. The British and Foreign Marine Insurance Company (Limited) cannot be transmitted under appeal to the Supreme Court of Hongkong.

I regret that other pressing matters have prevented a prompter acknowledgement of your letter, although my conversation of the 17th will probably not have left you in doubt as to the course which I consider it incumbent on me to pursue. It is clear to me, as I have already stated to you, that I must be guided by the 10th Article of the Order in Council of 13th June 1853, an Order which emanates from the highest authority of H. M.'s Government both on legal and international question, and was formed after protracted consideration of all points incidental to the constitution and jurisdiction of these Consular Courts.

In declining to forward the proceedings to the Supreme Court at Hongkong I cannot consider the case of your client a hard one. He had an opportunity of appealing to the proper Appellate Court, but did not choose to avail himself of this provision, and while I know that you do not expect me to discuss a decision of my own Court you must be satisfied I am sure that both I and the assessors who assisted me formed a very different estimate of the evidence in the case to that which you not unnaturally hold.

As to a copy of the evidence for which you apply I must beg you to satisfy me as to the utility of furnishing it before I can authorize a work of considerable labor, extending as it does over upwards of one hundred pages of close writing. Of course I need not point out that a copy cannot be demanded of right, and unless for purposes of appeal I do not readily see for what object a copy can be needed.

I am, &c.,
(Signed) HARRY S. PARKES,
Consul.

TONG-FAT v. THE BRITISH & FOREIGN M. I. Co., Limited.

SIR,—Before your departure from Shanghai, I beg to enquire whether you have any objection to request the opinion of the home authorities as to whether it is right that the judgment in this case should remain as it is?

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. COOPER.

True copy,

No. 4. SHANGHAI, May 31st, 1865.

To Sir Harry S. Parkes, K.C.B.

SIR,—On the other side I beg to send you a copy of a communication I forwarded to you on the 25th instant. I trust you will forgive me for troubling you further upon this subject. My excuse is that I believe from what I conscientiously consider the absence of any proof to the contrary) neither Tong-fat or the Captain really committed the gross and extraordinary fraud suggested and alleged against them. I have only again to remind you of your own statement at the end of the judgment, in open Court. "We (the Court) cannot say who or the fraud was, he or his servants did it"; which I think entitled the Chinaman to a judgment in his favor.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. COOPER.

P.S.—I would refer you to the report of the loss of the ship Dorko at Newchwang in this month's daily Recorder, as bearing on the loss of the Meiktu.

Assistant.

No. 5. BRITISH CONSULATE,
SHANGHAI, June 3rd, 1865.

SIR,—In reply to yours of the 25th and 31st ultimo, I beg to point out to you that it is quite impossible for me to refer my decision in this or any other case to the Home Authorities for reconsideration or revision, except on appeal in the manner provided by the Order in Council of June 1853. Your client did not choose to exercise this right of appeal, but has followed a course which I may be permitted to observe to you renders it altogether superfluous for you to continue to take further proceedings on his behalf. I may add, too, that whatever may have been the precise effect of my verbal remark I may have made in delivering the judgment, I, and the assessors who sat with me, are quite satisfied of the criminality of Tong-fat's conduct.

I am, &c.,

Consul.

TONG FAT v. THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN M. I. Co., Limited.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge your communication of Saturday evening last. I regret your determination. Next in gravity to the commission of a grave injury, through prejudice, error or otherwise, rank, I think, the difficulties for any enquiry. I observe your statement that yourself and assessors are satisfied of Tong-fat's criminal conduct, thereby precluding the other statement to which I have referred, and this is why I wished the case referred to another disinterested authority, to say if such could discern any foundation for such a conclusion. I feel little difference in dissenting from the judgment of yourself and assessors. As regards one of them I would have preferred for the sake of impartiality the selection of Mr. Hanbury himself, who after receiving the premium for insurance told you in Court he had no authority to in any for Chinamen, and if the Company had to pay, he would have to bear it out of his own pocket. Regarding the other assessor, I understand he acted rather than agreed with the decision. Touching yourself, with every respect, you will remember me rising in the course of the case to express my astonishment at the exhibition of your extraordinary bias, no evidence having been adduced at that time on behalf of the defendants. You are acquainted with my reason for declining to recommend an appeal to Mr. Wade, and it is needless to repeat that assuming the judgment to be as groundless as I consider it to be, I could not persuade myself it would be reversed by him. The futility of an appeal to Pekin was further impressed on my mind, by the very expressive determination from you not to allow an appeal to Hongkong, which Court would not willingly have assumed a jurisdiction if it did not exist, at least as I fancy. From your observation about the anticipated arrival of the Chief Justice Adams, I thought it politic to suggest a reference to the home authorities as most likely to coincide with your own views, and the ultimate benefit of my client, but I have erred here. I wish now to confide to you the cause of my importunity. My experience with the Mercdant Chinese, short as it has been (and it terminated with this case), disclosed to me much information and bewilderment which prevail with respect to European notions of justice, and one of the ideas of the explanation of the extraordinary result of this case is that it tests in my own want of integrity;—therefore I have troubled you, and in vindication of my own character, I shall send the correspondence to the press for publication.

I have the honor to remain, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) D. COOPER.

No. 7. BRITISH CONSULATE,
Shanghai, June 6th, 1865.

SIR,—I regret to have to acknowledge the receipt of the communication which you saw fit to address to me yesterday. Impugning as it does my judicial integrity, together with that of the Assessors who sat with me on the occasion referred to, and even that of the judge in appeal, I feel that I should be wanting in my duty as a judicial officer, were I to pass unnoticed this gross and unjustifiable attack upon the Court in which I am called on to preside. Having hitherto, with the exception of this instance, been cordially supported by all the members of the legal profession at Shanghai, it would give me great pain to be compelled to administer a reproof to one of their number now that I am on the point of resigning my charge. I am willing, however, to believe that this will be rendered unnecessary by the timely withdrawal of your inconsiderate letter which may have been written in a moment of warmth or annoyance, but it is incumbent on me to tell you that until this is done I shall mark my sense of the contempt which I consider you have offered to this Court by excluding you from taking part in its proceedings.

I am, &c.,

Sir H. S. PARKES, K.C.B.,
H. B. M. Consul, Shanghai.

SIR,—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of this date. I scarcely think my letter extends quite so far as the construction you have put upon it, but certainly the result of the matter as far as regards Tong-fat is just the same as though your construction of it was correct. However, you will readily understand from the tenor of my communication that your sense of it does not affect me very much.

Declining to withdraw one line or letter from my communication of yesterday, dictated by no other feeling than a deep sense of the most grave injustice towards another (two others) not myself, I accept your notification, and allow me to assure you that but for the fact of your resigning your present charge I should certainly publish my communications according to my intention yesterday, but as this might be regarded as or confounded with malice instead of disgust I refrain from doing so.

IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.

SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1865.

WE are indebted to our contemporary of the Recorder for the report of the collision case which we publish to-day.

THE class of gentlemen-rowdies, once so common in Shanghai, has happily become almost extinct. Details of adventures utterly unfit for the columns of a newspaper, catalogues of offences, which would hardly gain belief were they published, but which are well known to the Consular representatives, at one time came constantly under our notice, but so long as the Consuls were content with private warnings, we were satisfied to abstain from making public the disgrace which young Shanghai was heaping upon itself. Fortunately for the peace of the settlements, and fortunately also for the good understanding which as a rule exists between natives and foreigners, the gentleman-rowdy class has been in part cowed and in part exterminated. A select party of four or five quietly walking homewards in evening dress about midnight were enabled without much risk of suspicion to commit outrages which an ill-clothed loafer dare not attempt. A policeman roused by the crash of lamps or by the screams of a wayfaid Chinaman was easily thrown off the scent, and exhorted to pursue a hypothetical offender by the very men who had themselves created the disturbance. Besides all this, which might charitably be regarded as the result of an effervescence of spirits caused by an injudicious consumption of champagne, there were occasional outbursts of rowdyism for which no excuse could be offered. Flushed with wine, and inspired with the courage which the consciousness of safety creates, individuals who would feel grossly insulted were they denied the hackneied title of gentlemen, have roamed on horseback through the surrounding hamlets, and have, in at least one instance, wantonly used fire-arms with fatal effect on the inoffensive inhabitants. For a real or fancied connection with these ruffianly bands one at least paid a fearful penalty, but others, more lucky, escaped with a slight pecuniary loss and a still more trifling meed of disapprobation from those who happened to hear of their exploits. Still, either the amusement palled on the perpetrators of these practical jokes or the fear of discovery induced them to retire from the scenes of their outrages and seek safer if not more reputable diversions. However this may have been, amateur rowdyism sank for several months to a minimum, and while calm fell upon the native householders in Shanghai who had become accustomed to find their windows smashed and their signs stolen, the neighbouring villagers remained undisturbed by the reports of revolvers, and ceased to anticipate the nightly arrival of drunken but gentlemanly incendiaries. The recent Consular case of Gye v. Broom, although in the opinion of the Court the evidence totally exonerated the defendant from the charge upon which he was summoned, proves with sufficient clearness that the Mohawks of the street's are again at work. The amusement derivable from smashing a gaudy lamp or throwing a brick-bat through a window may be of a very exciting character to a mind strongly tinctured with imbecility. We can imagine the gratified sensation of the gentleman "in a black coat and white trousers," who, no doubt returning from a mildly convivial reunion of fellow-haberdashers, "struck the lamp with his stick" and "ran away directly the lamp was broken." There is something which at least excites a smile, and occasionally claims admiration in the boisterous outbreaks whereby college students in England occasionally find vent for their overflowing excitement. But there we have generally either a resolute fight against heavy odds, or some element of good-fellowship present which places a student row far above the performances of skulking lamp-breakers and cowardly invaders of peaceful villages. With what feelings of intense self-congratulation must the chief performer in the little episode to which we more especially refer have gallantly dodged round a corner or into a compound, and listened during the frantic pursuit in which Messrs. Muir, Bennett, Byrne and Roskell so enthusiastically joined! With what interest must he have studied the proceedings of the Consular Court, and speculated on the chance he might have had, were he in Mr. Broom's position, of avoiding direct perjury while perverting the truth. We imagine that the inevitable sense of shame which even the veriest flunkey must experience after throwing a stone and running away in mortal terror, was more than compensated by the exquisite conceit of seeing another gentleman figuring as defendant in the action. Indeed the cream of the joke must have lain in this. A finale so unexpected enhanced ten fold the pleasure of having done mischief with impunity. We do not know what penalty it is in the power of the Consul to inflict for an offence of this character, but we are satisfied that so long as our present energetic Consul remains amongst us, judgment in such cases will hardly, if at all, be tempered with mercy.

CONFLAGRATIONS are fortunately rare in the foreign settlements at Shanghai, a fact which is sufficient to cause surprise when we take into consideration the careless habits of the natives and the highly inflammable nature of their dwellings. When, however, flames do break out in any one of the closely populated Chinese quarters, the rapidity with which they spread and the pertinacity with which they repel every attempt to extinguish them furnish us with cogent reasons for the inauguration of some system whereby the chance of fire may be lessened and the effects rendered less terrific. Of this we had a very noteworthy illustration in the recent disaster on the Maloo. Some one stupefied by the fumes of opium no doubt allowed his pipe to fall on the cushions of his kang, and was helpless either to stop the progress of the flames or to give an alarm. The consequences we have had an opportunity of witnessing in the total destruction of some sixty or seventy native houses, and the imminent risk of a European dwelling situated at the entrance to the Maloo. If native householders could be prevailed upon immediately to report the slightest symptom of fire to the nearest police station, steps might be taken in time to save life and property which otherwise are almost certain to be lost. It is impossible to say how many unfortunates were consumed on the night of the Maloo fire. Doubtless more than one met a dreadful fate in the opium dens and sam-shoo shops of which the block of buildings was for the most part composed. We do not commit ourselves to the opinion that their lives might have been saved had efficient aid been procured at an earlier period, but it was evident to every one present at the time that much property was lost which might with judicious management have been preserved. The municipal police and the sailors from the men-of-war worked with the utmost enthusiasm, but they were as drops in a bucket when compared with the dense crowds which filled every available corner in the neighborhood of the fire. Too much occupied in Looking after the fire engines, pulling down adjacent houses, and watching the evolutions of the light fingered natives and foreigners who had assembled, it was impossible for them to keep back the throng or open an avenue for the escape of furniture and property of other descriptions. We have already taken occasion to remark on the absence of the men of the 67th Regiment, although we are convinced that the gallant fellows would have enjoyed the exercise, and would moreover have been all the better for the excitement. Had they been on the spot much good might have been done in the way we have already indicated. The most serious want felt was that of water. The tide was out, the mud-holes difficult to come at, and even when they were discovered the supply of water proved excessively limited. Such, however, must be the case until water works are established. Meanwhile we would seriously recommend that, instead of the macadamised roadway and stone slabs which have at present to be removed or broken through before water can be obtained, iron plugs, which might be raised at a moment's notice, be laid down. Were such a plan adopted the sewers would be rendered easy of access, the contents might be removed by pumps instead of being ladled out under a burning sun, and obstructions of every kind could readily be removed. Besides all this, water would be close to each door without the necessity which now exists of disembowelling the streets in order to get at it. Water, as the most urgent necessity in case of fire, claims our first attention, but the organisation of an efficient fire brigade is likewise loudly called for. With the present diminished numbers of the municipal police that body can do little except guard the property saved, and prevent peculation. It would be absurd to expect them to do more, even were the entire strength of the force concentrated on the scene of the fire, to the desertion of the rest of the settlement. But were a few of the volunteers to form themselves into a fire-brigade we are convinced that they would find many anxious to join their ranks. There would be no difficulty about obtaining a fire-engine, indeed we presume the insurance offices would gladly present an engine to any well organised volunteer brigade. Several residents in Shanghai have belonged to corps of the kind in California and Australia, and this previous experience would stand in good stead. With a disciplined volunteer fire brigade well accustomed to the use of an engine, with a good engine, and with a plentiful supply of water, or at least with increased facilities for obtaining whatever water is to be had, the insurers of Chinese house property might sleep happily, undisturbed by visions of lurid flames, smoking rains, and heavy demands.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

Since the date of our last issue the weather has been fine with the exception of one rainy day. There has been a considerable increase in the temperature. Few events of interest have taken place in the foreign settlements, and we have been totally devoid of any species of public amusement. On the 7th instant Messrs. Heard & Co.'s steamer Kiang kung made her trial trip after undergoing considerable repairs. The result was most satisfactory, the steamer averaging a rate of thirteen knots an hour. We understand that she is now capable of carrying from fifteen to eighteen hundred tons of cargo. It is reported that the native junk-men at Shanghai, in concert with several small Chinese traders, contemplate adopting measures for taking the coasting trade out of the hands of foreigners, and thus to find employment for the large number of native craft now lying idle in consequence of the general state of trade by conveying merchandise in foreign bottoms. It is said that the native authorities look upon the project with favorable eyes. We cannot, however, attest the truth of the above which is merely a rumour. The second battalion of the 11th regiment under the command of Colonel Jenner has arrived at Hongkong per H.M.S. Tamar. The Tamar will convey the 67th regiment to the Cape, but at what time we are not informed. On the 19th instant Li Hung chang was to have entered on the duties connected with his appointment to the governor-generalship of the two Kiang. The rule forbidding a native to hold an appointment in his own province has been infringed on this occasion, as Li Hung-chang was deemed best fitted for the post by the Peking government. It is probable that he may take command of the Imperial army in the Shantung province. We learn that the Song-kung met his death by a jingal-ball while leading an attack on a body of insurgents encamped outside Ching-ming-chow. The higher officials attached to the army in Shantung have been greatly censured for not saving the prince's body from the hands of the Nien-fei, by whom it was horribly mutilated. The latter are making slow but steady progress and it is reported that nearly the whole of Shantung is now in their possession.

FROM FOOCHOW we learn that Burgevine is at present at that port, in the charge of the mandarins. The American Consul has requested that he be given up, but the native authorities decline doing so before receiving instructions from the Futai of this province.

OUR HAKODADI correspondent informs us of a fire which took place at that port on the 15th April. Serious damage was done, five hundred houses and godowns having been consumed.

The French Mail steamer Labordonnais arrived in the river on the 3rd instant bringing dates from England to the 1st ultimo.

REPORTS

Of Municipal Council Committees, Approved by the Monthly Meeting held June 7th 1865.

FINANCE, RATE AND APPEAL COMMITTEE.

The Finance, Rate and Appeal Committee reports that on assuming office on the 1st May, they proceeded to investigate the accounts of the Municipality.

It was evident at once that the estimate of expenditure for the year, based on the figures of the retiring Council, so far as the Police Force was concerned, was far too small—firstly, because 2 months of the pay of the Force must necessarily be on the old scale—as the reduction could not take place until the 31st of May, and secondly, because a sum of Tls. 16,000 being the pay of the Officers of the Force, is not affected by the reduction in the Rank and File.

It was also apparent from certain causes not under the control of the Council, that the Revenue would not be as great as anticipated,—either as regarded the supplemental Finance, or the general Estimate for the year.

It is impossible at present to give figures in regard to this deficiency, as it is mainly in connection with the collection of Wharfage Dues and generally Foreign Taxes—in which collections are still proceeding; and your Committee rely upon the good faith and correct feeling of the Rate-payers to meet these punctually, as whatever objections may exist should not apply to the past, but be met in the future, as it must be manifest the Municipal work cannot be carried on if reliance is not to be placed on the Taxes authorized to be collected.

One objection, that of assessment, your Committee suggest should be met by their being empowered to make a re-assessment—which shall be published 14 days before the next collection of Taxes is due, enabling appeals to be lodged in order that if any just cause for appealing can be proved the assessment may be amended. The Budget of the entire year, although thus largely affected, will not, your Committee think, show the hitherto usual deficiency—providing the strictest economy consistent with efficiency is practised in every Department. Your Committee trust they will not be considered as stepping out of their province in pointing this out to the Public Works, and Watch Committees.

Your Committee have abolished the office of Interpreter at a saving, as by the budget, of Tls. 300. They have reduced the rents of Lemex Station by Tls. 100. They have reduced the salary of the Medical Officer by Tls. 50. A boat attached to the water Police has been sold. By this, and the non-employment of a crew, a saving of Tls. 543.75 has been effected.

They propose that the Long Rifles of the Police Force not wanted, be sold, the short rifles, numbering 150, they suggest be all retained.

The Municipal accounts are now transferred from the Agra and Masterman's Bank to that of the Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris, and the loan of Tls. 65,000 with this latter Bank duly negotiated, by which operation a saving of some Tls. 1,978 in interest will accrue. The small loans of Tls. 1,000 and Tls. 1,000, with Messrs. Dent & Co. and Messrs. Russell & Co. respectively, hitherto standing at 15 per cent interest, have been reduced to 9 per cent., but your Committee would recommend that they be authorized to repay, rather than keep them outstanding.

The question of the taxes to be paid by the British Consulate, past and in the future, is still outstanding. Your Committee recommend that they be empowered to make the best possible arrangements they can in the matter, and if the case has to be referred to the Home Government, they be authorized to address Earl Russell on this subject through H. M. Minister.

Pu-en Shi pu.—Your Committee require to be authorized to assess them according to the scale of business of each—it being manifestly wrong to assess them either by rents or simply at so much. H. E. the Taotai has made a similar suggestion on the subject.

Boarding Houses.—A scale of Taxes will be submitted for your approval with this report.

Opium Tax.—Is now imposed on rentals. This is evidently a wrong method, and your Committee request they may be allowed to collect the Tax by licence to each house.

Your Committee paid an instalment of Tls. 4,000 at the urgent request of the surveyors Messrs. Whitfield & Kingsmill, and Knevitt, on account of the Survey of the settlement. They regret this, as certain inaccuracies have been found thereon—which if not corrected will oblige them, under your instruction, to demand the repayment of the sum.

It is unfortunate that in the whole system of Municipal Finance there is no Tax of an expansive nature—no tax which might grow into a revenue that should enable at a future date the burden of direct taxation to be somewhat removed. Your Committee would suggest that something might be done to create such a measure. It is possible that the Local Post Office and the proper management of Sewerage and Night soil might yield this desired revenue, and they would submit that the subject have the early attention of the Council to this end.

Of the Local Post Office, as in her their control, your Committee can speak. It barely pays its expenses, but when it is considered the enormous mass of Chinese correspondence that passes through it, posted by foreigners for Chinese, it is worthy of consideration if these latter should enjoy the whole advantages of the Post without paying a cash towards its support, while it might be possible by the extension of Post Offices within the settlement, and the levying of a small charge per letter, to raise Municipal revenue.

Sewerage and Night soil are sought after by Chinese, used by them in all their cultivation. They are seen coming miles to fetch it, might it not therefore be assumed to have a considerable yearly value?

WATCH COMMITTEE.

The Watch Committee report that the numerical strength of the Police force is as follows—

1 Superintendent.
2 Inspectors.
12 Sergeants.
60 Constables.

75 Europeans.
34 Chinese.

Total 109

Your Committee have to report that the strength of the Police force has been reduced since the present Council came into office, by 36 men, 5 of whom have been sent to New York, per Ocean Gem; 26 to England, per Mincio; 5 to Hongkong en route for New Zealand.

It may be satisfactory to state that as the term of engagement of nearly the whole of these men had expired they have suffered no actual hardship. 20 of them expressed a wish to resign, and 16 were recommended for dismissal by the Superintendent of Police, their terms having also elapsed. It will be gratifying to you to learn that notwithstanding this reduction in the Police force, there is no increase of crime in the returns.

Your Committee suggest that a colored plan drawn on the form in the possession of the Superintendent, be prepared, showing the beats of the Police, with a view to procure the "severity" of substantial Chinamen in those districts where Chinese policemen may be substituted for Europeans.

Your Committee propose that all persons interested in property on the Hongque side below Messrs. Dent & Co's Wharf, be informed that as they do not contribute in any way to the Council funds, the police will be withdrawn, at the same time they recommend that the Council provide Police supervision for such persons or firms on the Hongque side as are willing to pay for protection of that kind under the control of the Council

Your Committee have inspected several Chinese applicants for Police duty, each individual being recommended and "secured" by some known respectable Chinaman, and they suggest the adoption of some distinctive dress of the native character which will render consistent with efficiency,
